BARRE TERMINAL BILL WAS PASSED BY HOUSE AFTER SHARP ATTACK

In favor of the measure and thought it would be a paying proposition.

Mr. Wilson said he could not conscientiously vote for the measure, and that the city of Rutland was not behind it and it would be of no benefit to that part of the state. He did not think that it would be a paying proposition any more, and he urged that it must not be passed faster than New York and declared that New York now has no terminals south of Whitehall on the lake.

Mule Bill Passed.

After over an hour's session in committee of the whole yesterday afternoon, the Senate passed a dissenting vote H. 75, the so-called "mule bill," which extends the provisions of the law relating to the importation, testing and examination of cattle, horses and mules. This bill was strongly favored by Commissioner E. S. Brigham of the department of agriculture, who was questioned at length yesterday afternoon in relation to the same. In the opinion of the commissioner, the bill will operate to clean up Vermont herds permanently.

The Senate to-day passed H. 200, providing for the districting of the state into 10 health districts and abolishing local health officers. The measure was advanced yesterday afternoon after a long session in committee of the whole, in which Dr. Slayton of Morrisville and Dr. Dalton of the state board of health testified. F. H. Dewart of Burlington, in behalf of the Christian Scientists, said that his society would not oppose the bill if an amendment was adopted, relieving compulsory medical inspection from the schools when parents objected. The amendment was adopted, and the measure advanced by a vote of 21 to 7. Senators Howland, Hill and Adams opposing and Senators Steele, Jackson and Vilas favoring the same. As amended, the bill was passed to-day.

The Senate suspended its rules, reconsidered, amended and passed S. 76, providing for an appropriation for repairing the state prison at Windsor, the section providing for a woman's prison being amended out of the bill and provided for in the budget. Senator Vilas questioned Senator Adams closely as to the need of the $25,000 appropriation, claiming that such a large amount was not needed, and the bill as amended was passed, 25 to 2.

The House yesterday afternoon ordered the motor truck tonnage tax bill (H. 287) to a third reading, after some discussion and the rejection of several amendments. Amendments were adopted which permit the heavy trucks of the Standard Oil company to operate, the gross tonnage being raised from six tons to six and one-quarter tons.

The "fur bearing bill" (H. 243) was killed for the second time. This measure set out to repeal the law protecting foxes, but after being amended out of shape, was killed and afterward reconsidered. Further attempts to amend were made by Mr. Holden of Troy, who tried to have the bill prohibit hunting with dogs between May 1 and Nov. 1. This amendment was lost and permission was denied Mr. Taylor of Hardwick to revive another amendment.

S. 75, providing scholarship for the medical department of the University of Vermont, was ordered to a third reading, and H. 286, providing for support of state patients in Brattleboro retreat, was passed.

The House adopted the joint resolution providing for a committee on final adjournment, and the speaker designated on the commission. Messrs. Dunham of Brattleboro, Webster of Swanton and Dyer of Salisbury.

The governor's veto message on 8, giving women the right to vote for presidential electors, was read, and, on motion of Mr. Tracy of Johnson, the bill was made a special order for Thursday, March 20, at 10:30 a. m. This is the bill which the Senate yesterday morning passed over the veto by a bare two-thirds.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Mrs. Frederick Small, formerly a resident of Barre but now of Morrisville, is in this city to-day, calling on old acquaintances, and expects to remain until to-morrow noon.

MONTPELIER

National Wrapping Machine Corporation Wants to Move Here from Newport.

Representatives of the National Wrapping Machine corporation met the members of the Montpelier Board of Trade Tuesday evening in the city council chamber and explained to them the reasons why they desire to leave Newport and are looking for a more central location. For the most part they want to get nearer a place where their castings for manufacture of their machines are made and they cannot hold help in Newport because of tenements for the company. The representatives set up four of the machines they make. They are employing 40 hands now and want to increase the number. They desire added capital of $75,000. They are now capitalized for $300,000. The output of their company is now largely used in wrapping candy.

W. O. Lowe of Waterbury was found guilty Tuesday afternoon in Montpelier city court on the charge of mortgaging property that was already mortgaged, but sentence will not be imposed for a short time, which will give the respondent's attorney time to prove exceptions to carry the case to supreme court. The defense was that the Borden Milk company knew of the existing mortgage when it took the second one, but the court ruled that if it did, it did not nullify the violation of the general laws, as far as the respondent was concerned.

The defense also contended that because of the penalty section, which provides that the penalty shall be a fine of double the amount of the mortgage, one-half of which shall go to the damaged persons, no harm had been done to the milk company since it knew of the first mortgage at the time it accepted the second. The court ruled such testimony out of the case, and held that the trial must be conducted on the previous section of the general laws. To this the defense, it is expected, will take exceptions, carrying the case to supreme court.

If this occurs it will be the first time that the personal mortgage section of the general laws has been questioned and the supreme court asked for a decision in the matter.

John Dobbs is considering the installation of a candy-making plant. Mr. Dobbs, before coming to Montpelier, was employed in the candy-making business. This was in the days when sugar instead of substitutes was used in its manufacture. He may apply to the Board of Trade for capital to add to that which he is ready to put into the industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis of Northfield visited legislature yesterday.

W. N. Cady of Middlebury went to his home to-day, after a couple of days' passed in Montpelier.

John Untied of Brookfield has been in Montpelier a few days this week.
